

Cry the Wounded Land

for the New Zealand Secondary Students' Choir 2019

composed by Rosa Elliott

lyrics and karanga by HineKoia Tomlinson

both in honour of Mark Holloway's book: 'Cry the Wounded Land' and those, Māori and Muslim, whose blood was spilt on Aotearoa

Lyrics and Translation

Karanga and Poem Translation by HineKoia Tomlinson:

Haere mai āku tamariki e
Come my children

Hoki mai ki ōku ringa atawhai
Come rest in my arms/embrace

Hoki mai ki tōu ūkaipō e
Come return home

Hoki mai rā e
Come

I au aku iti ka riro nei
I held my children as they died
(died = as the breath left them)

Tōmina nui te maungārongo
I long for peace

E huri kino ai te moe
Their spirits rest uneasy
(their spirits wander restless)

E ū nei te kai kini
I hold their pain

HineKoia's Original Poem:

I held my children as the breath fled from their bodies.
Covered their bones with moss, and flowers.
Red blood dripped down on to my up turned face and I wept for life cut short.
I still hold them here, close to my heart beat, their blood cries out, calling, calling for justice.
I'll hold them, hold them close.
My children are dead, but I still hold them.
Their spirit rests uneasy, my body holds their pain.
And I long for peace.

From Genesis 4:10 (WEB):

Yahweh said, "What have you done? The voice of your brother's blood cries to me from the ground."
